UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE DISTRICT OF NEVADA

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, Plaintiff, vs.

COUNTY OF ELKO, Defendants,
THE WILDERNESS SOCIETY and GREAT
OLD BROADS FOR WILDERNESS, Intervenor
and Cross-Claimants,

3:99-CV-547-MMD-WGC
ELKO COUNTY'S REPLY TO
UNITED STATES RESPONSE TO MOTION FOR SUMMARY
JUDGMENT (DKT. 610)

COMES NOW, Elko County, by and through its attorneys, TYLER J. INGRAM,
District Attorney for the County of Elko, KRISTIN A. McQUEARY, and CURTIS F.
MOORE, Deputy District Attorneys, and GARY D. WOODBURY, Esq., and submits the following Points and Authorities in support of this Reply, together with all pleadings and papers on file herein.

1 POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

2 1. Authority For Elko County's Reply

3 As a respondent to a motion for summary judgment, Elko County would not normally 4 be afforded a reply brief. The scheduling order allows one to be filed. Specifically, DKT 604
5 provides that "Intervenor's motions are due by 12/12/2016, with responses due 1/31/2017 and 6 replies due 2/22/2017." Given that the Court specified that the replies, in the plural, would be 7 due on February 22, 2017, and that the interests of Elko County and the United States are not 8 fully aligned, Elko County took the wording to mean that Elko County was afforded a reply to 9 the United States' Response to Intervenor's Motion for Summary Judgment.

10 2. PACER Error

11 At the time this reply is being written, PACER identifies DKT 610 as a Response to 12 Motion for Summary Judgment as filed by the Amicus, Office of the Attorney General, State 13 of Nevada. The Document, when opened, appears to be only the Response of the United 14 States, not the State of Nevada as Amicus Curiae. This erroneous designation should be 15 corrected.

16 3. The Department Of Justice Has Plenary Authority To Settle This Lawsuit

17 The United States' response to Intervenor's Motion for Summary Judgment, DKT 605,
18 acknowledges the August, 2016, decision of this Court, and concedes Intervenor's are entitled 19 to summary judgment apparently under TWS' cross claim theories -- that the settlement 20 agreement violates federal law because it transfers real property not in accordance with 21 procedures required under federal law, or that the United States Department of Justice
22 arbitrarily and capriciously evaluated the evidence that Elko County had such an easement, or 23 the Department of Justice arbitrarily and capriciously did not understand the legal 24 ramifications of the Settlement Agreement. The United States also concedes TWS is entitled to 25 summary judgment, voiding Elko County's Quiet Title Act, 28 U.S.C. 2049, counter claim.

26 The United States' Response makes no effort to support the Department of Justice's 27 previous position that if the Agreement did transfer real property to Elko County it was 28 authorized to do so in light of the plenary authority of the Department of Justice to settle cases

1 and the provisions of the Quiet Title Act, DKT 611. Intervenor argued that the Department of 2 Justice acted outside of its authority in entering into the Settlement Agreement with Elko
3 County, DKT 605. The United States effectively concedes this point (although Elko County 4 does not).

5 However, neither the United States nor the Intervenor have cited a single statute that 6 the Department of Justice has violated. Elko County still asserts that an unambiguous
7 expression of Congressional intent to limit Department of Justice discretion in settling Quiet
8 Title litigation doesn't exist in FLPMA, 43 U.S.C 1701, in the Quiet Title Act itself, or in the 9 provisions of 28 U.S.C. 516-519. Without such an unambiguous expression of intent, 10 Congress has not limited the plenary authority of the Department of Justice to settle lawsuits
11 arising under these statutes. United States v. International Union of Operating Engineers, 638
12 F.2d 1161, 1162 (9th Cir. 1979)

13 The United States makes no argument differentiating the validity of the Settlement
14 Agreement standing alone, versus the Settlement Agreement incorporated into the Consent 15 Decree. The United States makes no argument that Elko County did not need to prove it has an 16 RS 2477 easement in the South Canyon as part of the compromise that a settlement agreement 17 is.

18 The United States acknowledges at page 2, of its Response, that it did not intend to 19 transfer an easement through the Settlement Agreement. It fails to acknowledge that Elko 20 County by entering into the agreement and dismissing its quiet title counterclaim gave up the 21 right to argue to the contrary. The United States cites no authority and makes no argument that 22 under law, a contract should be construed in accordance with the intent of the parties to it.

23 In short, the United States is essentially admitting it acted arbitrarily and capriciously 24 across the board. That position undermines the United States' responsibility to Elko County to 25 support the parties' contract. The good faith and fair dealing requirements of general contract
26 law apply to the United States' government as well as to private parties, Clark v. United States, 27 73 U.S. 543, 545-46 (1867), United States v. Behan, 110 U.S. 338, 346 (1884).

28 The lack of any claim of justification for the actions of the Department of Justice has

1 the appearance of conceding that TWS should receive attorney fees from the federal 2 government under the Equal Access to Justice Act, 28 U.S.C. 2412.

3 The United States argues in a head note on page 3 that the “Provisions of the Settlement 4 Agreement Unrelated to the Alleged R.S. 2477 Right-of-Way Remain Valid.” In short, the 5 agreement is severable.

6 Under the terms of the agreement in Section VI(B), Elko County has already dismissed
7 its Quiet Title Act counter claim with prejudice. The United States informs the Court that its 8 Clean Water Act and Trespass claims against Elko County were dismissed in the agreement, as 9 well. How the Court can both sever the agreement as requested by the United States and award 10 summary judgment on Elko County’s dismissed counter claim is not argued nor explained by 11 the United States.

12 Elko County’s acknowledgement in its response to the Motion for Summary Judgment 13 that it had no legal argument against summary judgment on its Counterclaim presupposed the 14 Court would invalidate the Settlement Agreement in its entirety.

15 4. Offer of Compromise

16 Elko County objects to the Department of Justice making an offer of compromise in its 17 Response to the Motion for Summary Judgment of. The offer of compromise has nothing to do
18 with summary judgment and it is obviously intended by the United States to force Elko 19 County into conceding settlement is reasonable or possible. The United States is attempting to 20 infer to the Court that Elko County is not litigating in good faith nor making reasonable 21 claims, or is being unreasonably litigious. Elko County is attempting to uphold the benefits of 22 its bargain in good faith. The United States is the party that is back tracking. Remember, Elko 23 County was joined to this litigation October 21, 1999 by the Court in DKT 5.

24 Elko County is satisfied that a variety of this Court’s decisions including the Order
25 regarding Threshold issues DKT 507 and the Order following the evidentiary hearing DKT
26 600 are not legally nor factually supportable. More importantly, the holdings set a precedent 27 for subsequent decisions that will adversely impact not only Elko County, but other local 28 government claims to RS 2477 rights of way, and the discretion of the Department of Justice

1 to settle R.S. 2477 lawsuits without full blown trials.

2 Elko County is also satisfied that the South Canyon Road will remain open. The United 3 States and the Intervenor have already litigated this issue in the 9th Circuit Court. The 4 Intervenor lost in Great Old Broads for Wilderness v. Kimbell, 709 F.3d 836 (9th Cir. 2013).
